

Who do you represent?

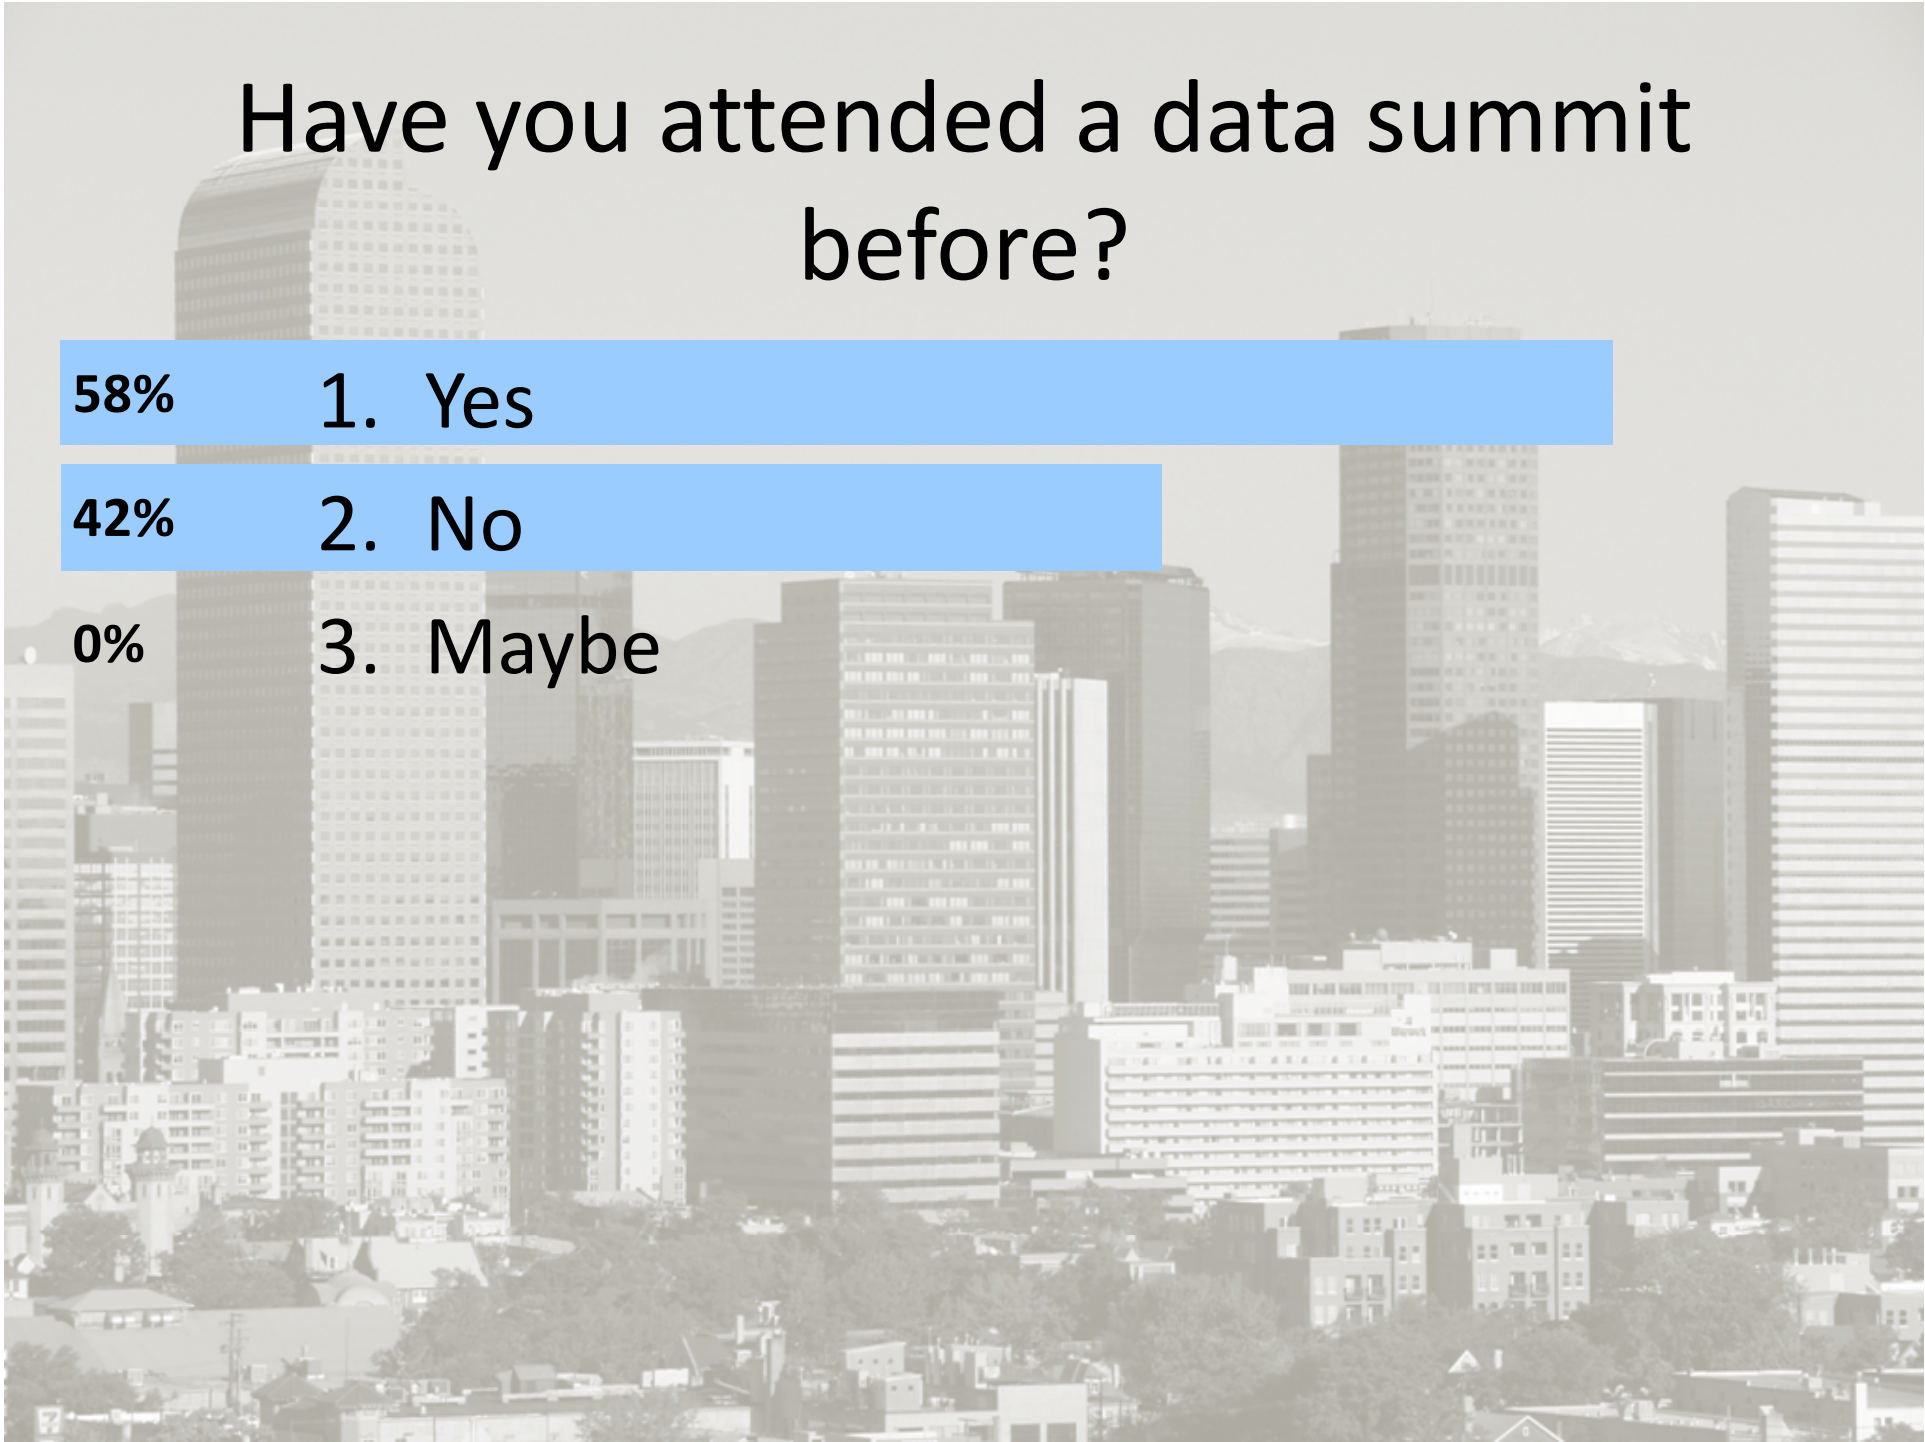

What is your area of expertise?

Have you attended a data summit before?

- 58% 1. Yes
- 42% 2. No
- 0% 3. Maybe

How familiar are you with the “Open Data” movement?

- 10% 1. I’m pretty clueless
- 46% 2. I’ve read/heard about it
- 29% 3. It influences my work
- 15% 4. I am a champion of the movement

How familiar is your supervisor with the “Open Data” movement?

- 42% 1. She/he is pretty clueless
- 27% 2. She/he has read/heard about it
- 21% 3. It influences her/his work
- 10% 4. She/he am a champion of the movement

When you think about open data in the context of your work . . .

- 12% 1. The additional work outweighs the benefits
- 37% 2. The benefits are worth the additional work
- 31% 3. The benefit would be LESS work
- 20% 4. I'm not sure

Does your organization have the resources in house to publish open data?

50% 1. Yes

23% 2. No

27% 3. Maybe

Integrated regional data sets . . .

- 69% 1. Solve immediate pragmatic problems
- 18% 2. Are just “nice to have”
- 13% 3. Not sure

Within your organization, how many “one-off” requests or projects touch on issues of economic development?

3% 1. None

23% 2. A few

28% 3. A substantial minority

15% 4. A majority

8% 5. Virtually all

22% 6. Not sure

What is the biggest road block to freely distributing geodata?

- 29% 1. Legal concerns
- 12% 2. Political culture
- 40% 3. Lack of resources (time, money, staff, etc.)
- 14% 4. Lack of senior management support
- 5% 5. Private sector will just take it and sell it

What excites you most about open data?

- 13% 1. People building 3rd party apps on top of our data
- 39% 2. More self-serve information delivery (less 311)
- 13% 3. Transparency
- 13% 4. New users
- 21% 5. Collaboration