Meeting Objective:

DRAPP 2014 Project Wrap-up and Brainstorm for 2016

Discussion Points:

- We discussed several innovative ways to approach the next project. Beyond what was mentioned in the presentation, attendees suggested:
  - Shipping everyone the same dataset and letting partners clip out their own tiles
  - Limiting the formats provided
  - Investigating other companies/agencies - DigitalGlobe, Nearmap, NASA, Microsoft

- We decided that the DRAPP project needs a better way to decide on color. One suggestion is to print features beforehand that we need to be able to identify and include that in our objective assessment of the imagery. Another suggestion is to create a Color Committee in 2016 that will spend 1-2 weeks working with the vendor when the pilot images are ready to pick the correct color and tone of the final images. This Color Committee will convene prior to the 2016 project and will create a library of images from multiple years that represent our preferred color/tone.
- Color committee volunteers currently include:
  1. Dave Murray
  2. Derek Stertz
  3. Kirk Hayer
  4. Barb Morey
  5. John Voboril
- There was request for partners to share the ArcMap settings for their imagery that they find to be the best for this particular dataset. If you send them to me (Ashley), I will compile them for the group.
- We'll be losing an underwriter this year so I will try to estimate the percent increase that passes on to other partners, considering a traditional project.
